INTRODUCTION The hydrographic data included in this report were collected as part of a site selection survey to provide basic oceanographic data to assist the Puerto Rico Water Resources Authority in determining the best locations for additional electrical power generating facilities for the Island, both nuclear and fossil fuel. This report includes data from two sites: the Punta Higuero site, PHI, is the site of the former 'BONUS' nuclear power plant and the Cabo Rojo Platform, CAP, is a possible site for offshore power generating plants. The locations of both sites are shown in Figure 1 along with the other sites under consideration. The two west coast sites, PHI and CRP, are centered about 30 kilometers apart. Cruises were scheduled to sample these sites quarterly to determine the effects of seasonal changes. The fall season of the 1973 cruise was cancelled because the ship was not available. ITINERARY OF CRUISES The stations sampled are indicated in the figures and their respective coordinates. Figures 2 through 13 indicate the chronological order of sampling of the stations on each cruise. The dates and time of sampling are indicated on the figures. Time is given in tenths of hours. The sampling dates were: January 17-18, 1973 May 1-2, 1973 August 13-14, 1973 September 12, 1973 January 4-15, 1974 January 16, 1974 April 2, 1974 April 9, 1974 August 27, 1974 August 28-29, 1974 November 7, 1974 November 15, 1974 The dates are presented in chronological order. PARTICIPATING SCIENTIFIC PERSONNEL The following persons participated in the various cruises. In some instances, cruise members were primarily engaged in other sampling programs as

Stuart ---Page Break--- METHODS Classical oceanographic methods were used in sampling and analyzing sea water. Depths of 0, (10), 25, 50, 100, 150, 200, 250, and 300 meters were sampled where the sea floor depth permitted. The samples were analyzed for temperature (Celsius), salinity (parts per thousand), dissolved oxygen (mg/L, mg/2, 2 sat.), reactive phosphate and reactive nitrate in the later cruises (both in µg/L), and cruises were made on the RAV R.F. Palumbo. Water samples were collected in St PVC Niskin bottles (Nos. 1-8) augmented at times with 1.58 Nansen bottles (Nos. >9). Temperatures were determined using deep sea reversing thermometers calibrated annually at the Dept. of Oceanography, University of Washington, Seattle. Although only one temperature appears on the printout, it is usually an average of two or three thermometers as the thermometer data are corrected and averaged on a separate routine from the regular hydro-data program. The thermometers were allowed to equilibrate at least 3 minutes before being tripped and then allowed about 5 minutes equilibration on deck before being read by at least two different people. Salinity samples were drawn into 250 ml Nalgene polycarbonate salt water aged bottles and analyzed on shore with a Beckman induction salinometer. Dissolved oxygen samples were drawn into 300 ml BOD bottles, pickled and titrated using the Winkler method on board ship within a few hours of being drawn. Samples for nitrate and phosphate were drawn into 500 ml and 125 ml polyethylene bottles, respectively, frozen and returned to the laboratory for analyses. Phosphate concentrations were determined by the Murphy and Riley method and nitrate by the method described by Wood, Richards and Armstrong. The RAV R.F. Palumbo is owned by ERDA (USAEC) and has been operated by the Puerto Rico Nuclear Center since 1971. The ship is 4 years old, is 29 m (95.5 feet) in length, has a net displacement of 250 tonnes (275 tons) and has a 350 hp Caterpillar diesel engine cruising at 10 knots. The RAV R.F. Palumbo is berthed at Punta Guanajibe near the PRNC Marine Biosafety Laboratory just south of the city of Mayaguez, Puerto Rico. The ship was under the command of David Green, Captain USN (retired) and Cayetano Hernandez on the 1973-1974 cruises. ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS The Puerto Rico Nuclear Center is operated by the University of Puerto Rico under contract for the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA-formerly).
